What is a BioBlitz?

A Bioblitz is a communal citizen-science effort to record as many species within a designated location and time period as possible.

If you can find a wild plant or critter and take a picture of it you can participate as a Bioblitz observer!

We will use iNaturalist to record our observations. Smart phones can locate the data on a map or you can manually mark the location of your pictures. Create an account at iNaturalist.org or download the app. Join our BioBlitz. We will have helpers on May 20 to assist in uploading your photos.
